

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY POLICY

Occupational health and safety policy is an integral part of Unipromet business strategy and one of the key ESG principles and an important element of the management system in accordance with the ISO 45001:2018 standard.

Commitment to a safe and healthy work environment

Unipromet is committed to creating a safe, healthy and sustainable work environment for all employees, contractors, visitors and other interested parties. The company operates in accordance with applicable laws and regulations in the field of occupational health and safety, as well as relevant European standards in this field.

Occupational Health and Safety Culture

The company continuously develops and improves the OHS culture through the active participation of all employees, open communication, and preventive action. All employees have the right and responsibility to actively participate in improving OHS by timely pointing out potential risks and unsafe working conditions, with the goal of preventing injuries, incidents, and maintaining a safe working environment.

Continuous improvement of occupational health and safety

The company is committed to the continuous improvement of the occupational health and safety system through performance monitoring, risk analysis, implementation of preventive and corrective measures, as well as the development of a safety culture at all levels of the organization.

Occupational safety and health and sustainable development

Through responsible business operations, rational use of resources, improvement of working conditions, and the application of ESG principles, the company contributes to sustainable development and long-term business stability, while respecting employees, the social community, and the environment.
